EPILEPSY AND EEG

This exchange is between two mothers in a forum on the Epilepsy Foundation website.

Being an EEG tech can make a difference in the lives of families with epilepsy.

Do you want to help families like Kimberly's and Sarah's?

Sarah 298 days ago

My youngest daughter was diagnosed with CAE at age 8 but outgrew it by age 12. Her older sister began having grand mal seizures and was diagnosed with epilepsy two years later at age 14. Recently now age 16 in addition to her seizures she has begun having post ictal spells with sever vertigo and headaches lasting hours or days which have lead to days in the hospital with no diagnosis.

This started 6 weeks ago, she takes 600 mg of lamictal and 200 mg of zonisamide daily. Three weeks ago her fraternal twin sister began having clonic arm jerks and grand mal seizures every few days. Both girls are suffering memory and retention problems that seems to be getting worse. There is no history of epilepsy in our family anywhere...why is this happening? I feel like I'm in the twilight zone.

Sarah,

Both of my kids have epilepsy too. We are actually in the hospital right now have a 3 day EEG done on my daughter. It is scary and overwhelming. We don't have any history of epilepsy in our family either. Our neurologist put my daughter on Magnesium and B2 vitamins. Have the doctors done any blood work to see if the kids are low in vitamins or maybe to high in something? I hope you get some answers. Please know you are not alone.

Thank you for your response. No they have not as far as I know. We have an appointment tomorrow morning. Mckenzie had her third seizure yesterday and Mariah is in one of her Post ictal spells as we speak. We had a 24 hour EEG in December and should get results tomorrow.
